MOLLY DARNELL,

Plaintiff,

vs.

Case No. 2:24-cv-13152
Hon.

OXFORD COMMUNITY SCHOOL
DISTRICT, SHAWN HOPKINS,
NICHOLAS EJAK, TIMOTHY THRONE, STEVEN WOLF, in their individual capacities, KENNETH
WEAVER, in his official capacity,

Defendants.

COMPLAINT AND DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

NOW COMES Plaintiff, MOLLY DARNELL, by and through her attorneys, SOMMERS SCHWARTZ, P.C., and for her Complaint and Demand for Jury Trial against the above-named Defendants, states as follows:

INTRODUCTION

This case is about the tragic but foreseeable consequences of school officials at the Oxford Community School District (“OCSD”) recklessly creating or exacerbating the risk of a mass shooting at Oxford High School through acts showing a deliberate indifference to the safety and constitutional rights of Oxford High School students and staff.

Educators like OCSD officials assume a duty to protect their employees and students from foreseeable threats including, unfortunately, the increasingly prevalent school shootings ravaging this nation.

When those within systems we trust breach their duty to respond to imminent threats of gun violence with care, sensitivity and sobriety, mass shootings like the November 30, 2021 attack at Oxford High School are a predictable result.

Here, upon information and belief, OCSD officials breached their duty of care by creating or exacerbating the risk that the shooter would use a firearm in a mass shooting at Oxford High School by ignoring clear signals of impending gun violence from the shooter and engaging in acts or omissions which foreseeably emboldened, motivated or enabled the shooter to successfully engage in the November 30, 2021 shooting. But for these acts by OCSD officials, the shooter would have been disarmed, detained or otherwise prevented from engaging in the November 30, 2021 mass shooting.

It was eminently foreseeable that an act of gun violence like the mass shooting was a probable consequence of their negligent and/or unlawful misconduct. Thus, the negligent and/or unlawful misconduct of OCSD directly and proximately contributed to the harm inflicted upon various Oxford High School students and staff on November 30, 2021.

While the shooter has faced criminal accountability for his role in the shooting, our system of civil justice entitles those injured during the mass shooting at Oxford High School to hold OCSD to account for their contributions to this tragedy.

One of the victimized employees of OCSD was Plaintiff, Molly Darnell.

Since the November 30, 2021 shooting, the OCSD and its officials have repeatedly told the Oxford community that Nicholas Ejak (“Ejak”) and Shawn Hopkins (“Hopkins”) had no choice but to send the shooter back to class because their school policy was such that unless there was a disciplinary issue they could neither send a student home nor detain them in the counseling office. The OCSD has claimed that because E.C. did not present a disciplinary issue, its employees had no choice but to return E.C. to class. OCSD has advanced this “adherence to policy” explanation in a transparent attempt to cover up its own culpability in this tragedy. However, the truth is that school officials escalated the danger by releasing the shooter back into the school population from a place of safety and security. They did this despite knowing of the shooter’s desire to inflict harm on himself and/or others. These school officials compounded the danger to Oxford High School students and staff by releasing him from a safe zone with an unsearched backpack that contained the deadly weapon that the shooter used to carry out his suicidal or homicidal plans. Plaintiff Molly Darnell survived the shooting but has suffered irreparable harm.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

1. This cause of action arises under the U.S. Constitution and the laws of the United States, including the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983, and under the constitution of the State of Michigan.

2. This Court has jurisdiction over Plaintiff’s federal claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1343 and 42 U.S.C. §1983.

3. Venue is proper in the Eastern District of Michigan pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1391(b)(1)-(2) because all facts alleged in this Complaint occurred in Oakland County, Michigan and all parties reside within the Eastern District of Michigan.

THE PARTIES

4. Plaintiff Molly Darnell is and was an employee of the Defendant Oxford Community School District and was working as an educational coordinator within Oxford High School on November 30, 2021, and was a victim of a gunshot that day, causing serious injuries and damages.

5. Plaintiff Molly Darnell has been employed by the Defendant Oxford Community School District since 1998. She has been a high school English Language Arts teacher and secondary ELA coach, in addition to coordinator of the Middle Years Program of the districts International Baccalaureate program. She was named Oxford High School's Teacher of the Year in 2003 and 2011.

6. At all relevant times hereto, Plaintiff Molly Darnell resided in the Village of Lake Orion, County of Oakland, State of Michigan.

7. Defendant Oxford Community School District ("OCSD") is a municipal corporation organized and carrying out its functions in the Township of Oxford, County of Oakland, State of Michigan. OCSD's functions include all operations at Oxford High School, including but not limited to funding, staffing, training, supervising the staff, counselors, and teachers at Oxford High School, and maintaining the safety and security of school facilities for the education and general welfare of OCSD students and staff.

8. OCSD is being sued pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 for its official policies, practices, and customs, which were the motivating force and cause-in-fact for the decision to return E.C. from the safety and security of the counseling office to the classroom on November 30, 2021.

9. Defendant Shawn Hopkins ("Hopkins") is a citizen of the State of Michigan and at all relevant times was acting under the color of state law within the course and scope of his employment as a counselor at Oxford High School in the Defendant OCSD. Hopkins is being sued pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983, violation of Plaintiff's substantive due process right to bodily integrity pursuant to the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and Michigan Constitution, Article 1, §17.

10. Defendant Nicholas Ejak (“Ejak”) is a citizen of the State of Michigan and at all relevant times was acting under the color of state law within the course and scope of his employment as Dean of Students of the Defendant OCSD. Ejak is being sued pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983, violation of Plaintiff’s substantive due process right to bodily integrity pursuant to the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and Michigan Constitution, Article 1, §17.

11. Defendant Timothy Throne (“Throne”) is a citizen of the State of Michigan and at all relevant times was acting under the color of state law within the course and scope of his employment as Superintendent of the OCSD. Throne is being sued pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

12. Defendant Steven Wolf (“Wolf”) is a citizen of the State of Michigan and at all relevant times was acting under the color of state law within the course and scope of his employment as Principal of Oxford High School within Defendant OCSD. Wolf is being sued pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

13. OCSD, Hopkins, Ejak, Throne, Wolf and/or other currently unidentified school officials are referred to collectively as “the Oxford Defendants”.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

A. Unfortunately, for many years now in the United States, school shootings have been a real and ongoing threat in our K-12 schools.

14. From 2009 to 2019, school shootings occurred in over 177 schools in the United States, resulting in 356 deaths.¹

¹ Ten Years of School Shootings, CNN (July 2019) <https://www.cnn.com/interactive/2019/07/us/ten-years-of-school-shootings-trnd/>.

15. CNN's investigation into 10 years of shootings on K-12 campuses found two truths: (1) school shootings are increasing, and (2) no type of community is spared.

16. In 2021 alone, there were 202 incidents of gunfire on school grounds, resulting in 49 deaths and 126 injuries.² In 2022, there were 181 incidents of gunfire on school grounds, resulting in 67 deaths and 159 injuries.³ In 2023, there were 158 incidents of gunfire on school grounds, resulting in 45 deaths and 106 injuries.⁴

17. To date for the year 2024, there have been at least 199 incidents of gunfire on school grounds, resulting in 55 deaths and 146 injuries nationally.⁵

18. It is well established that many shooters in mass shooting events were suicidal before the attack commenced.⁶

19. A recent study of 134 schools and attempted school shootings found that 91% of the shooters were students or former students, 98% were males, 87% were in crisis before the shooting and 80% were suicidal before the attack.⁷

20. The State of Michigan, in recognition of the risks of school mass shootings and gun violence, has enacted legislation mandating that school districts adopt school safety policies.

21. This legislation includes the Child Protection Law, MCL §777.621 (1975); Statewide School Safety Information Policy, MCL §380.1308 (1999); Mandatory incident reporting to state police for certain crimes occurring at school, MCL §380.1308a (2019); Liaison for school safety commission requirements, MCL §380.1241 (2019); Office of School Safety, MCL §28.681 (2019); Reporting of Crimes on the District's Website, MCL §38.1310a (2000); Student Safety Act, MCL §752.911 (2000); Save Our Students Act, MCL §380.1893 (2020); Searching Student Lockers, MCL §380.1306 (2000); and Student in Possession of a Dangerous Weapon, MCL §380.1313 (1987).

22. Tragically, gun violence in schools is a foreseeable risk which creates a school official's duty to confront and de-escalate known threats of violence at school, including potential school shootings.

23. Eliminating or minimizing the risk of gun violence in schools is an essential part of the duties of school administrators, teachers, and counselors as a matter of state and federal law.

B. In the days and weeks leading up to the November 30, 2021 mass shooting at Oxford High School, there were warning signs of impending violence that were ignored and/or minimized by school officials.

24. E.C. was fourteen years old and a ninth-grade student at Oxford High School on November 30, 2021.

25. In the months leading up to the shooting, E.C. was known to Oxford High School teachers, counselors, and administrators for his concerning behavior that indicated psychiatric distress, suicidality, and the possibility of child abuse or neglect.

26. This behavior includes a depressed mood, disheveled/unkempt appearance, minimal participation in his classes, and refusal to complete school assignments.

27. In May 2021, E.C. videotaped himself torturing and killing animals. One such animal was a bird. E.C. decapitated the bird and stored the head in a jar.

28. In August of 2021, E.C. took a video of himself holding a gun. He sent the video to an Oxford High School classmate with the message: "It's time to shoot up the school! JK."⁸ The gun at that time was his father's 22-caliber handgun.

29. Defendant Hopkins became E.C.'s school counselor at Oxford High School in the fall of 2020, E.C.'s freshman year.⁹

30. Hopkins continued to be E.C.'s assigned counselor his sophomore year of high school.

31. Early in November 2021, Hopkins received an email from E.C.'s Spanish teacher that E.C. seemed "sad".¹⁰

32. Hopkins did a check-in with E.C. and told him that he was available if E.C. needed to talk. In response, E.C. just said, "okay".¹¹

33. Approximately four weeks before the mass shooting, a severed deer head was brought into and left at Oxford High School.

34. The deer head occurrence caused a level of concern and anxiety amongst Oxford High School students, parents and teachers.

35. On November 11, 2021, two weeks before the shooting, E.C. brought a severed bird's head to school in a jar and placed it in the boys' bathroom.¹²

36. Other students found and reported the bird's head to school administrators, including Oxford High School Principal Wolf.

37. OCSD administrators concealed this information from both staff and parents in the OCSD.

38. A reasonable investigation would have uncovered that E.C. was the student responsible for the bird's head.

39. An entry in E.C.'s journal confirmed that he was the person who brought the bird head to Oxford High School.¹³

40. Cell phone records also document that he had recorded himself decapitating a bird.¹⁴

41. The next day, November 12, 2021, Oxford High School administration sent an email to parents of Oxford High School students stating: "Please know that we have received every concern shared with us and investigated all information provided . . . We want our parents and students to know that there has been no threat to our building nor our students."

¹² Id. at 223: 8-14.

¹³ Id. at 223:8-14.

¹⁴ Id. at 264:12-13.

42. On or about November 16, 2021, multiple parents directly informed Principal Wolf of concerns about threats to students made on social media, and concerns about multiple severed animal heads at Oxford High School.

43. Communications from parents to Principal Wolf stated, in part: "I know it's been investigated but my kid doesn't feel safe at school... He didn't even want to go back to school today."

44. Students and parents at Oxford High School recognized the presence of a violent threat in mid-November 2021, but OCSD administrators dismissed the threat as not credible.

45. In response to reports from parents, students, and teachers, District administrators persisted in their campaign to conceal and minimize the threat to school safety.

46. On November 16, 2021, Principal Wolf emailed parents, stating: "I know I'm being redundant here, but there is absolutely no threat at the HS... large assumptions were made from a few social media posts, then the assumptions evolved into exaggerated rumors."

47. That same day, Superintendent Throne made an announcement on the Oxford High School public address system instructing students to stop spreading rumors and relying on information on social media and reassuring those listening that there were no threats that posed any danger to them at Oxford High School.

48. At all relevant times, Throne, while acting as the Superintendent of OCSD, discouraged students and parents from reporting, sharing or otherwise discussing the threatening social media posts.

49. At all relevant times, Wolf, while acting as the Principal of Oxford High School, directed the teachers and counselors to tell students to stop reporting, sharing or otherwise discussing the threatening social media posts and violent animal slaughter that was occurring at Oxford High School.

50. At all relevant times, Throne and Wolf's respective actions, by advising each and every student and teacher, including Plaintiff, that there was no credible threat, demonstrated conduct so reckless as to demonstrate a substantial lack of concern for whether an injury resulted.

51. At all relevant times, Plaintiff was safer before Throne and Wolf respectively took action and advised each and every student and teacher that there was no credible threat. By virtue of Throne and Wolf's actions, they each substantially increased the danger and ultimate harm to Plaintiff.

52. At all relevant times, E.C.'s social media accounts were set to "public", allowing any person on the internet to view the contents, which primarily depicted E.C.'s obsession with and unrestricted access to firearms.

53. Upon information and belief, the content of E.C.'s social media accounts were known to fellow students, parents and the Oxford Defendants prior to the shooting on November 30, 2021.

54. On November 26, 2021, Black Friday, 15-year-old E.C. accompanied his father, James Crumbley, to Acme Shooting Goods, LLC. At that time, James Crumbley purchased a gun for E.C., which would ultimately be the gun E.C. used in the mass shooting.¹⁵

55. On November 26, 2021, E.C. posted a photo of the gun to his public Instagram account with the caption: “[J]ust got my new beauty today [heart eyes emoji] Sig Sauer 9 mm. Any questions I will answer.” [emphasis added]

56. This post was readily accessible to any person on the internet, including all Defendants.

57. On November 27, 2021, E.C.’s mother, Jennifer Crumbley took E.C. to Accurate Firearms & Range in Clarkston, Michigan, so that E.C. could practice shooting the gun.

58. On November 27, 2021, Jennifer Crumbley posted a photo on her Facebook page of a target at the shooting range with the caption: “[M]om and son day testing out his new Christmas present.”¹⁶ This social media post referred to E.C. firing the gun.

59. At all relevant times, Jennifer Crumbley’s social media accounts were set to “public”, allowing any person on the internet to view her posts, including Defendants.

60. E.C. later confirmed that he used the gun to kill and injure students and staff including Plaintiff on November 30, 2021 at Oxford High School.¹⁷

C. NOVEMBER 29, 2021 - E.C. CONTINUES TO EXHIBIT WARNING SIGNS OF HIS IMPENDING VIOLENCE

61. The morning of November 29, 2021, Defendant Ejak and Pam Parker Fine (“Fine”), the OCSD’s Restorative Practices Coordinator, received an email from E.C.’s Spanish teacher informing them that E.C. had been using his cell phone during class to access the internet to look up information about ammunition.¹⁸

62. This email was forwarded to E.C.’s counselor, Defendant Hopkins.¹⁹

63. Fine called E.C. to her office, where he met with Fine and Defendant Hopkins.²⁰

64. The meeting started at about 9:00 a.m. on November 29, 2021, and lasted approximately five minutes.²¹

65. The only support or guidance that Fine and Defendant Hopkins provided to E.C. was to inform him that looking up ammunition on his cell phone during school hours was not “school appropriate behavior.”²²

66. In response, E.C. told Fine and Hopkins that he had gone to a gun range with his mother the previous weekend to shoot guns, that shooting guns was a family hobby, and that he was researching information about his shooting hobby.²³

67. During the meeting, E.C. was compliant, calm, and understanding, was not argumentative or oppositional, and demonstrated an obedience to authority.²⁴

68. At the conclusion of the meeting, Fine and Hopkins permitted E.C. to return to class.²⁵

69. After the meeting, Fine called E.C.'s mother and left a voicemail message.²⁶

70. In accordance with the OCSD policy, Fine did not ask for a return call from E.C.'s mother because the situation did not present a disciplinary issue.²⁷ E.C.'s mother did not return Fine's call.

71. Later that day, E.C.'s mother texted him: "Seriously?? Looking up bullets in school??" E.C. responded: "Oh, yeah. I already went to the office for that."²⁸ E.C.'s mother responded: "Did you at least show them a pic of your new gun?" E.C. responded: "No."²⁹

72. Later that same evening, E.C. posted to his public Twitter account: "Now I am become Death, the destroyer of worlds. See you tomorrow Oxford."

D. NOVEMBER 30, 2021 - E.C. EXHIBITS WORSENING SUICIDAL AND HOMICIDAL IDEATIONS. DEFENDANTS EJAK AND HOPKINS ESCALATE THE IDEATIONS AND THEN DELIBERATELY CHOOSE TO RELEASE E.C. BACK INTO THE GENERAL SCHOOL POPULATION

73. On the morning of November 30, 2021, E.C. returned to Oxford High School with his gun and 48 rounds of ammunition in his backpack.

74. He also had a journal in his backpack that contained 21 pages of his plans for the mass shooting.³⁰ The journal stated in part: "First off, got my gun. It's an SP2022 Sig Sauer 9-millimeter. Second, the shooting is tomorrow, I have access to the gun and ammo.”³¹ It also contained two separate drawings of bullets. One drawing was labeled “.22”. The other drawing was labeled “9-millimeter”. The .22 drawing has next to it “kill range, 25M, max”, and the 9-millimeter drawing has next to it “kill range, 100M.” There was also a large drawing of what appears to be a cup with liquid in it, a severed bird head, and what appeared to be a demon drawn next to it.³²

75. At approximately 8:50 a.m., Defendant Hopkins viewed an email from a teacher in the Oxford High School English Department sent at 8:30 a.m., stating that E.C. was watching a video during class on his cell phone depicting a realistic shooting.³³

76. At approximately 8:59 a.m., E.C.’s math class participated in a test review. On his math worksheet, E.C. drew a picture of the Acme gun. Under the gun, he wrote: “The thoughts won’t stop. Help me.” To the right, he drew a person with two gunshot wounds: one in the chest and one in the abdomen with blood coming from the mouth. Beside this, he wrote, “blood everywhere” and drew a shell casing or bullet. Below, E.C. drew a laughing/crying emoji. Finally, he wrote: “My life is useless” and “The world is dead.” His teacher saw the drawing and immediately reported it to Hopkins and Ejak.

77. This drawing and these statements were clearly violent and disturbing, were an obvious cry for help, and openly expressed E.C.’s thoughts of suicide and/or homicide.

78. Subsequently that morning, E.C. altered his drawings on the worksheet. He scratched out the drawings of the gun, the bloody person, and the words “Help me”, “My life is useless,” “The world is dead,” and “Blood everywhere.” E.C. added new, equally disturbing phrases in this context: “video game this is”, “harmless act,” “I love my life so much!!!!”, “OHS rocks!”, and “we’re all friends here.”

79. E.C.’s math teacher reported the drawings and writing to Nicholas Ejak, Dean of Students.³⁴

80. Nicholas Ejak, Dean of Students, came to Shawn Hopkins’ office around 9:00 a.m. to let Hopkins know that he had seen a picture of the writings and drawings on E.C.’s math worksheet.³⁵

81. Thereafter, Hopkins went to E.C.’s math classroom to remove E.C. for a meeting in the counseling office.³⁶

82. Hopkins took possession of the math worksheet off E.C.’s desk in the classroom and escorted him to the counseling office, where Ejak was waiting.³⁷ E.C.’s backpack remained in the classroom.

83. Ejak returned to the math classroom and retrieved E.C.’s backpack, which contained a handgun and 48 rounds of ammunition.³⁸

84. At no point did Ejak or Hopkins search E.C.’s backpack or locker to determine whether E.C. was armed and dangerous and to determine whether he had immediate access to a deadly weapon he could use to harm himself or others.

85. During their meeting, Hopkins asked E.C. about the video of a shooting he watched in class on the morning of November 30, 2021. E.C. responded that the video he watched was of a video game, not an actual event as his teacher had described it.³⁹

86. Neither Hopkins nor Ejak attempted to watch the actual video to confirm the accuracy of E.C.'s representation of said video.⁴⁰

87. Ejak and Hopkins had actual knowledge of a safety threat and a concern for E.C.'s safety and well-being, given the events in the preceding months and days, which included searching for bullets on his phone, informing Hopkins and Fine of his shooting hobby, viewing a shooting during English class, and drawing disturbing pictures and words on his math assignment.

88. During this meeting, Hopkins also asked E.C. about the disturbing words and images he drew on his math assignment. E.C. explained to Hopkins that the drawings depicted a video game he wanted to design. No other explanation was given.⁴¹

89. Hopkins knew that E.C. was not being truthful when E.C. dismissed the words and images as a video game design, as demonstrated by the fact that Hopkins told E.C., "this does not sound like a video game."⁴²

90. E.C. did not deny Hopkins' assertion that his drawing did not depict a video game. Rather, Hopkins observed E.C.'s demeanor visibly change and, in Hopkins's words, E.C. "became sad . . . He started pushing more in his speech. He then described some [upsetting] things that had happened recently in his life," including the death of a family dog, the death of a grandparent, and the loss of a close friend who had to leave school.⁴³

91. At this point, Hopkins determined that E.C. was suicidal.⁴⁴

92. Hopkins asked E.C. if he was a threat to himself or others.⁴⁵

93. E.C. responded, "I can see why this looks bad. I'm not going to do anything."⁴⁶

94. Hopkins did not accept E.C.'s response at face value. Rather, Hopkins concluded, accurately, that E.C. was suicidal and "was a threat to himself in spite of his statement."⁴⁷

95. Hopkins had had three other students assigned to him at Oxford High School that year make suicide attempts.⁴⁸

96. Hopkins called E.C.'s mother. However, she did not pick up. Hopkins left a voicemail message.⁴⁹

97. Hopkins next called E.C.'s father. There was no answer and no option to leave a voicemail message.⁵⁰

98. E.C.'s mother then returned Hopkin's call.⁵¹

100. Hopkins testified that he was "concern[ed] about the student [E.C.] because it was a couple of messages in a couple days, and the purpose of the meeting was to find out what our next steps would be."⁵³

101. Hopkins asked E.C.'s mother to come to Oxford High School for a meeting.⁵⁴

102. E.C.'s mother told Hopkins she was at work and that she would try and get ahold of E.C.'s father.⁵⁵

103. E.C.'s mother called back and said she would be there in a half hour.⁵⁶

104. At approximately 10:30 a.m., E.C.'s mother and father arrived at the school.⁵⁷

105. While they waited for E.C.'s parents to arrive, Hopkins stayed with E.C. in the counseling office because he knew he was suicidal and that it was not safe to leave him alone.⁵⁸

106. After E.C.'s parents arrived, Hopkins texted Ejak to come back to his office for a meeting.⁵⁹

107. Upon their arrival, E.C.'s parents did not greet, touch or hug E.C., and they were not friendly or showing care or concern for their child. This struck Hopkins as odd, and unlike any other meeting he had ever had with parents.⁶⁰

108. In the meeting with E.C. and his parents, Hopkins described why he was concerned about E.C. and his well-being, including his sharing his conclusion that E.C. was suicidal.⁶¹

109. Neither Hopkins nor Ejak questioned E.C.'s parents about his access to a gun, despite the depiction of one on his math worksheet and his suicidal presentation.

110. Hopkins provided the family a list of resources for mental health support and stated that E.C. needed to start counseling as soon as possible, "today, if possible," or take other steps to protect their son from self-inflicted harm.⁶²

111. In response, E.C.'s mother stated that "Today is not possible. We have to return to work." ⁶³

112. Hopkins had never previously had a student's parent appear at such a meeting and not take the student home as requested.⁶⁴

113. Hopkins then stated that he wanted E.C. seen for mental health counseling within 48 hours, that he would follow up to see if he had obtained counseling⁶⁵, and if they did not obtain counseling, he would report them to Child Protective Services (“CPS”).⁶⁶ Hopkins testified he did not want E.C. to be alone, but was not confident E.C.’s parents would obtain counseling for him as instructed.⁶⁷

114. Ejak and Hopkins knew that the refusal of E.C.’s parents to address this emergent medical need was evidence of child abuse/neglect of the kind that needed to be reported immediately under Michigan’s Child Protection Act, MCL § 722.623, et seq.

115. Based on the facts and circumstances known to them at the time, Hopkins and Ejak knew that E.C. was suicidal.

116. Hopkins and Ejak also knew, or should have known, that E.C. had expressed homicidal ideation and that he presented a substantial risk of deadly harm to others.

117. At the end of the meeting, E.C.’s mother then asked Hopkins and Ejak, “are we done?”⁶⁸

118. Hopkins looked to Ejak and asked him “if there was any disciplinary reason why [the] student could not return to class.”⁶⁹

119. Ejak responded “no.”⁷⁰

120. Hopkins then said, “I guess we are done.”⁷¹

121. The meeting between Hopkins, Ejak, E.C. and his parents lasted “[l]ess than 15 minutes.”⁷²

122. Despite speaking to E.C. the day prior about his access to firearms and his shooting hobby, and now knowing E.C.’s suicidal and homicidal ideations, Hopkins and Ejak took the time to deliberate about the next course of action and still determined that E.C. could return to class.

123. Shockingly, they also returned E.C.’s backpack to him without searching it.⁷³

124. Ejak and Hopkins had just cause to either inspect the contents of the backpack or, if they felt that such cause did not exist, to withhold the backpack from E.C. until proper authority could be provided to them to inspect the backpack themselves or have law enforcement do so.

125. Hopkins and Ejak made the deliberate decision to return E.C. to the classroom with his unsearched backpack, despite knowing that their meeting with E.C.’s parents worsened E.C.’s emotional and psychiatric condition, knowing E.C. was obsessed with firearms and gun violence, knowing that E.C. was searching for bullets and watching shooting videos just the day before, and knowing that E.C.’s writings and drawings that morning depicted graphic gun violence and death. Their deliberate decisions shock the conscience.

126. Hopkins and Ejak knew or should have known that threatening to call Child Protective Services within 48 hours, and threatening to remove E.C. from his home, without actually taking any action, would create and/or increase the likelihood that if E.C. had violence in mind, he would act before he lost the opportunity.

⁷² Id. at 131:5.

⁷³ Id. at 151: 20-25.

127. Hopkins and Ejak knew or should have known that telegraphing to E.C. that there would be no meaningful disciplinary or other response to signals of violent intent would increase the risk of harm to all members of the student body and staff, including Plaintiff, by emboldening E.C. to believe that he could successfully complete his attack without intervention.

128. Hopkins and Ejak knew or should have known that returning the backpack to E.C. without searching it and without inquiring as to his access to firearms would increase the risk of harm to all members of the student body and staff, including Plaintiff, by substantially increasing the probability that E.C. would have access to one or more firearms.

129. Upon information and belief, Hopkins and/or Ejak engaged in other conduct which emboldened, motivated and/or otherwise influenced E.C. in a manner which made it more likely that a shooting would occur.

130. Hopkins and Ejak knew that because E.C. was suicidal, and because the facts established probable cause to know that he posed a threat to himself and others, he should be supervised in a safe setting, and that he should not be left alone.

131. Ejak and Hopkins had the authority as school administrators to maintain E.C. in a safe, secure and restricted environment in the counseling office, where, based on the assessment that he was suicidal, he could have been supervised by adults and would not have had access to weapons that he could use to harm himself or others.

132. Instead, Ejak and Hopkins exercised their authority to return E.C. to class with his backpack, despite knowing that he was suicidal, and that he posed a substantial threat to himself and others.

133. Hopkins and Ejak misused their authority by sending E.C. back through the school to his third period class, alone, and with his unsearched backpack containing his handgun and ammunition.

134. Hopkins and Ejak deliberately conducted this meeting to the exclusion of the school safety liaison officer, thereby preventing him from being present at the meeting and taking action to prevent the tragedy that followed.

135. Because Hopkins knew that E.C. was suicidal, he used the school's attendance reporting system to remotely track E.C. through the day and to see if he had been checked in as "present" for his third and fourth period classes.⁷⁴

136. Hopkins and Ejak, despite knowing that E.C. was suicidal and was a threat to himself in spite of his statement to the contrary,⁷⁵ concealed those facts from E.C.'s teachers as well as the school's liaison police officer, and further concealed both the fact that E.C. should not be left alone and the threat he posed to himself and others.⁷⁶

E. HOURS AFTER BEING RELEASED BACK INTO THE SCHOOL FROM THE SAFETY OF THE COUNSELING OFFICE BY HOPKINS AND EJAK, E.C. GOES ON A SHOOTING RAMPAGE, KILLING FOUR STUDENTS, AND SEVERELY INJURING SEVEN OTHERS, INCLUDING, PLAINTIFF, MOLLY DARNELL.

137. Less than two hours after Ejak and Hopkins released E.C. from the safety and security of the counseling office, E.C. took his backpack into a bathroom and loaded his gun.

138. E.C. first shot a student inside the bathroom, then emerged and began shooting people in the hallway.

139. Plaintiff was working alone in a classroom when she heard commotion in the hall, followed by an announcement, doors slamming and three-gun shots.

140. Plaintiff raced to shut the door to the classroom. Through her peripheral vision, she noticed movement in the glass window that runs floor to ceiling on the left side of the door.

141. Plaintiff locked eyes with E.C. and watched as he raised his gun to her. She quickly moved to the right and out of the window. E.C. fired three shots at her. Two shots missed, but the third went into her left upper arm.

142. Plaintiff was able to secure the door. She remained barricaded in her classroom for the next twenty minutes. During that time, she was able to use her cardigan as a tourniquet. She was eventually extracted from her classroom, but by that time had gone into a state of shock.

143. E.C. would ultimately kill four students, and seriously injure seven others in the school, including Plaintiff Molly Darnell.

144. Plaintiff received care and treatment for the gunshot wound, and has undergone trauma therapy, including EMDR and exposure therapy, as a result of this traumatic event.

145. Plaintiff has since made the decision to leave the high school she loved and has switched to becoming a teacher at the Oxford Virtual Academy.

146. At approximately 12:52 p.m., the authorities were notified of an active shooter at Oxford High School.

147. Upon information and belief, E.C.'s shooting rampage was halted when he was apprehended by law enforcement.

148. On December 1, 2021, E.C. was arraigned and charged as an adult with one count of terrorism causing death, four counts of first-degree murder, seven counts of assault with intent to murder, and twelve counts of possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony.

149. In October 2022, E.C. pleaded guilty to all charges.

150. In December 2023, E.C. was sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole.

151. The environment before Hopkins and Ejak exercised their authority to release E.C. to the classroom maintained the status quo of a safe environment because E.C. was securely restricted to the counseling office, under the direct supervision of school administrators, and he did not have access to the weapon and ammunition in his backpack. Hopkins and Ejak had the official authority to act as "gatekeepers" in deciding whether to release E.C. from the counseling office and return him to the classroom with his backpack.

152. Hopkins and Ejak used their authority to return E.C. to the classroom, causing a departure from the status quo, and thus creating and/or exacerbating a risk of violence that had not existed or was lower when E.C. was safely secured in the counseling office.

153. These affirmative acts by Hopkins and Ejak, which departed from the status quo of safety, rendered the occupants of Oxford High School, including Plaintiff, more vulnerable to danger than had Hopkins and Ejak not returned E.C. from the confines of the counseling office to the classroom.

154. Moreover, the meetings conducted by Hopkins and Ejak on the morning of November 30, 2021 worsened the situation and affirmatively increased and accelerated the danger of harm at Oxford High School.

155. The meetings themselves worsened the situation and were a contributing cause-in-fact of the shooting because the meetings placed direct pressure on E.C., who was obviously in a state of suicidal and homicidal ideation and experiencing a mental health crisis.

156. Furthermore, the meetings directly subjected E.C. to shame, fear, humiliation, and embarrassment of having his parents ignore, ridicule, and embarrass him in the presence of Hopkins and Ejak, thus increasing the risk of violence upon his release from the counseling office to the school environment. The decision by Ejak and Hopkins to conduct the meeting with E.C.'s parents in front of E.C. was inappropriate and certain to exacerbate E.C.'s feelings of distress and anger.

157. Hopkins and Ejak's actions in threatening to call CPS in E.C.'s presence, and thereby threatening to remove E.C. from his home, exacerbated E.C.'s distress and mistreatment by his parents, and therefore created and increased the danger that E.C. would act on his violent ideation after they released him from the counseling office to the school environment.

158. Upon information and belief, Hopkins and/or Ejak engaged in other conduct which emboldened, motivated and/or otherwise influenced E.C. in a manner which made it more likely that a shooting would occur.

159. The affirmative action of Hopkins and Ejak to return the unsearched backpack containing the firearm and ammunition to E.C. and release him into the school placed the students and staff of Oxford High School directly in harm's way and provided E.C. with the weapon and ammunition he used to commit the deadly shooting.

160. By giving E.C. the unsearched backpack containing the gun and ammunition, and releasing him from the confines of the counseling office and returning him to the classroom and the general school population, Hopkins and Ejak affirmatively set into motion the sequence of events that lead to the shooting that ensued, with deliberate indifference to the substantial and obvious threat of a school shooting, and with recklessness demonstrating deliberate indifference and a substantial lack of concern for whether an injury resulted, either to E.C. or to the students and staff of Oxford High School.

161. Hopkins and Ejak affirmatively concealed information by not informing either E.C.'s teachers or the school safety liaison officer of the situation, including the fact that E.C. was suicidal, thereby creating and increasing the danger of a violent incident occurring.

162. It is shocking to the conscience that Hopkins and Ejak would take these actions despite their knowledge that E.C. was suicidal and that he was expressing specific violent ideations about gun violence.

163. By reason of the knowledge that the Oxford Defendants possessed before the shootings began on November 30, 2021, it was foreseeable by said Defendants that E.C. would carry out acts of violence on Plaintiff and others at Oxford High School.

164. The Defendants' affirmative actions were reckless, grossly negligent, shocked the conscience and put Plaintiff, and others, at substantial risk of serious and immediate harm.

165. The severe and grievous injuries to Plaintiff were caused by the wrongful affirmative acts and fault of the Defendants being sued for damages.

166. The Defendants knew that their actions would endanger the lives of students and staff at Oxford High School on November 30, 2021.

F. THE OCSD AND ITS ADMINISTRATORS HAVE BEEN ENGAGED IN A CONCERTED EFFORT TO DEFLECT THEIR RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE OXFORD HIGH SCHOOL SHOOTING.

167. Defendant OCSD and its administrators adopted, implemented and followed an unconstitutional policy that resulted in the release of E.C. from the safety and security of the counseling office, where he was safely supervised and where his movement and actions were restricted, and returned him to class, despite knowing the he was in the throes of a mental health crisis, obsessed with guns and gun violence, had access to firearms and was determined to be a threat to himself and others.

168. Specifically, the OCSD has sought to avoid accountability by claiming it has a formal policy and practice of returning students to class unless there is a "disciplinary" issue that can be used to either send them home or hold them in the counseling office, and since E.C. did not present a “disciplinary” issue, it had no choice but to return him to class.

169. This policy of using false justifications demonstrates egregious deliberate indifference to the danger presented when a student such as E.C., who the school knew was suicidal and presented a clear threat, is returned to the school environment.

170. The unconstitutional policy relied upon by the Oxford Defendants directly resulted in harm to Plaintiff and is the basis for direct liability against OCSD.

171. On December 2, 2021, Superintendent Throne issued a video message which suggested that E.C. had contact with the “front office” before the attack but could not be detained because discipline wasn’t warranted. Throne said, “I want you to know there’s been a lot of talk about the student who was apprehended. That he was called up to office and all that kind of stuff. No discipline was warranted. There are no discipline records [for E.C.] at the High School. Yes, this student did have contact with our front office. And yes, his parents were on campus on November 30.”⁷⁷

172. This statement was deliberately misleading because of what it doesn’t say.

173. Superintendent Throne knew that on the morning of the shooting, E.C. was deemed to be suicidal and then released from the safety and security of the counseling office, whe/re he was safely supervised and where his movements and actions were restricted. Superintendent Throne knew that OCSD staff sent E.C. back to class, despite knowing that he was in the throes of a mental health crisis, obsessed with guns and gun violence, had access to firearms and was determined by OCSD staff to be a threat to himself and others.

174. In fact, in order to protect the bodily integrity of the students and staff as a whole, and Plaintiff in particular, the OCSD policy should have required the detention and removal from the student body of any student who was deemed to be in a mental health crisis, suicidal, fixated on guns or weapons or in any way posed a threat to the students and staff of Oxford High School.

175. The policy should have required that in the event OCSD officials determined or believed that a student might pose a threat to himself or others, an investigation should have been conducted to determine whether the student had access to a gun or other weapon that could be used to harm that student or others.

176. Further, the OCSD policy should have required that under these circumstances, the student resources police officer liaison be contacted and brought into the situation.

177. Discovery may reveal additional aspects of the policy that needed to be reformed or that needed to be added to the policy.

178. On December 4, 2021, Superintendent Throne wrote a letter to the parents of Oxford High School students. At this point, the narrative became completely contrived. In describing the events of the morning of November 30, when E.C. was in counselor Hopkin's office, the Superintendent stated that at "no time did the counselors believe the student might harm others based on his behavior, responses and demeanor, which appeared calm."

179. The Superintendent, at the time he made this statement, knew it was false.

180. The Superintendent went on to say in the letter that “[w]hile both of his parents were present, counselors asked specific probing questions regarding the potential for self-harm or harm to others. His answers, which were affirmed by his parents during the interview, led counselors to again conclude he did not intend on committing either self-harm or harm to others. The student’s parents never advised the school district that he had direct access to a firearm or that they had recently purchased a firearm for him.”⁷⁸

181. Again, the above assertion was false because Hopkins did, in fact, determine that E.C. was suicidal and Hopkins was fully aware that E.C. was experiencing a mental health crisis, was obsessed with guns and gun violence, had access to firearms, had verbalized a desire to harm others and wanted the parents to remove E.C. from school and take him for counseling that day. When the Superintendent made these assertions, he knew they were false.

CAUSES OF ACTION

COUNT I

State-Created Danger – Mone Liability under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 (Defendant Oxford Community School District)

182. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all the previous and subsequent paragraphs.

183. Plaintiff is a citizen of the United States and is entitled to the rights, privileges, and immunities accorded to all citizens of the State of Michigan and the United States, including the clearly established right to be free from danger created and/or increased by Defendants.

⁷⁸ Letter from Superintendent Throne to Oxford Wildcat Nation dated December 4, 2021, page 2, https://www.oxfordschools.org/for_parents_students/2021-22_district_communications/december_4_update_from_supt_throne (last accessed April 29, 2022)

184. Defendant OCSD and its administrators and policy makers, including Superintendent Throne, Principal Wolf, and Dean of Students Ejak, adopted and maintained official policies, practices, and customs that were the moving force behind, and cause-in-fact of, the school shooting and the severe and grievous injuries to Plaintiff on November 30, 2021. These official policies, practices, and customs included and are not limited to:

- a. An official policy, practice, and custom of preventing staff and administrators from maintaining administrative supervision over students in the counseling office, and restricting students from returning to the classroom, unless there is a “disciplinary issue” to justify doing so;
- b. A policy, practice, or custom of concealment, misrepresentation, minimizing or avoidance and non-escalation to higher authorities, including law enforcement, of suspected or known risks of school violence;
- c. The OCSD did not train Hopkins and Ejak to secure or hold a student in the counseling office, or to otherwise restrict a student from returning to the classroom, where the student is suicidal, where the student presents a threat of harm to themselves or others, and where returning the suicidal student to the classroom environment would create or increase the danger of deadly violence;
- d. A policy, practice, and custom of not training staff or administrators in the proper manner of interviewing and questioning a student who is known to be suicidal, including and not limited to questions about whether the student has a deadly weapon, including a firearm, and whether the student has access to a deadly weapon, including a firearm;
- e. A policy, practice, and custom of not training staff or administrators in the proper methods for completing a risk assessment;
- f. A policy, practice, and custom of not training staff or administrators to search the locker and backpack of students who present an objective risk of danger to themselves or others in the building;
- g. Disregarding and diverting student mental health crises if they do not fit within the OCSD’s definition of a “disciplinary issue”;

- h. Declining to file mandatory reports of suspected child abuse or neglect in violation of MCL § 722.623(a);
- i. Discouraging teachers, counselors, and administrators from reporting suspected child abuse or neglect, despite their status as mandatory reporters;
- j. Requiring additional and unnecessary procedures in order to approve a teacher, counselor, or administrator's request to file a report of suspected child abuse or neglect, or to contact law enforcement regarding a threat of violence at school;
- k. Adopting and maintaining inadequate and improper search policies; and
- l. Any other policy, practice, or custom that may become known through the course of this litigation.

185. These policies, practices and customs caused employees to inflict constitutional harms by directly starting the sequence of events that led to the shooting and injury to Plaintiff on November 30, 2021.

186. As the direct and proximate result of the OCSD policies, practices and customs which caused OCSD employees to inflict constitutional harms by directly allowing E.C.'s violence to occur, Plaintiff suffered terror, shock, excruciating pain, fear, trauma, severe emotional distress, scarring and disfigurement, wage loss, loss of earning capacity, and will incur future damages, including requiring ongoing mental health counseling.

COUNT II
State-Created Danger – Deliberate Indifference – 42 U.S.C. § 1983
(Defendants Ejak and Hopkins)

187. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all previous and subsequent paragraphs.

188. Plaintiff is a citizen of the United States and is entitled to the rights, privileges, and immunities accorded to all citizens of the State of Michigan and the United States, including the clearly established right to be free from danger created and/or increased by individual Defendants Ejak and Hopkins.

189. Any reasonable person would be aware of this clearly established constitutional right.

190. Ejak and Hopkins, with knowledge of this clearly established right, and acting in deliberate indifference, violated Plaintiff's right to be free from violence without due process, as secured by the Fourteenth Amendment's Due Process Clause, by taking affirmative acts under color of law to disrupt the status quo and create a danger of severe injury that did not exist in the status quo prior to those affirmative state actions, and by taking affirmative acts which caused severe injuries to Plaintiff, which would not have happened but-for-those affirmative state actions.

191. At all relevant times, Defendants Ejak and Hopkins were acting under the color of state law as employees of OCSD, a public school district, including and not limited to securing, supervising, advising, and directing the activities of E.C.; taking actions and making decisions regarding school practices and procedures, both formal and informal; and in their conduct as school administrators and counselors.

192. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins knew that E.C. was suicidal, that he was in extreme emotional distress; that he presented a substantial risk of danger to himself and likely others at the school; that he was urgently requesting help from school staff; that there was sufficient cause to believe his parents abused and/or neglected him; and that he expressed specific violent intentions involving the use of a firearm.

193. Ejak and Hopkins had the authority and obligation as school administrators to maintain the status quo, in which E.C. was safe, secure and restricted in the counseling office on November 30, 2021, and where he was supervised by adults and did not have access to weapons that he could use to harm himself or others.

194. Ejak and Hopkins had the authority to maintain E.C. in a safe and secure location under the watchful eye of a responsible adult until such time that he was no longer a threat to himself or others in Oxford High School.

195. Ejak and Hopkins affirmatively misused their authority by releasing E.C. from the counseling office and returning him to class the morning of November 30, 2021, despite knowing that E.C. was suicidal, and that he posed a substantial threat to himself and others in Oxford High School.

196. Ejak and Hopkins each took affirmative actions that individually, or in concert with one another, created and substantially increased the danger that E.C.'s conduct would escalate to actual violence, thus causing severe and grievous injuries to Plaintiff.

197. Ejak and Hopkins took affirmative acts on November 30, 2021 that created or increased the risk of danger, including but not limited to:

- a. Releasing E.C. from the safe and secure confines of the counseling office to the general school population, despite knowing that E.C. was suicidal and despite knowing, or having probable cause to know, that he was a threat to himself and others;
- b. Returning the unsearched backpack containing his gun and ammunition to E.C., despite knowing that E.C. was suicidal and despite knowing, or having probable cause to know that he was a threat to himself and others;
- c. Confronting E.C. in front of his parents about the events of November 30, 2021 and advising him that he needed to obtain immediate mental health therapy, or they would call CPS and remove him from his home, thus creating an urgency in E.C. to carry out his homicidal plan;

- d. Promoting a policy, practice, or custom of concealment, misrepresentation, minimizing or avoidance and non-escalation of suspected or known risks of school violence; and
- e. Any and all additional affirmative acts that created or increased the danger of violence at the school that may become known throughout the course of this litigation.

198. Ejak and Hopkin's affirmative acts created and exacerbated a state-created danger that substantially increased the special danger of harm to Plaintiff and others at Oxford High School, and in doing so knowingly and recklessly disregarded the substantial risk of danger that E.C. posed to himself and others.

199. The relationship between Ejak and Hopkins, as school administrators, and the school population, including Plaintiff, was such that Ejak and Hopkins knew that Plaintiff was a foreseeable victim of E.C.'s acts of violence following his release from the security of the counseling office by Ejak and Hopkins.

200. Ejak and Hopkins are not entitled to qualified immunity because Plaintiff's right not to be severely injured and shot by a student who was released from a safe environment into one in which harm was likely to occur was clearly established at the time of Ejak's and Hopkin's actions.

201. The conduct of Defendants Ejak and Hopkins was objectively unreasonable and performed knowingly, deliberately and with deliberate indifference to the safety of Plaintiff and others in Oxford High School, causing Oxford High School students and staff to be less safe than they were before Defendants' affirmative actions.

202. Ejak and Hopkins knew that their conduct, which exacerbated the risk and ultimately caused a school shooting, violated the clearly established rights of the students and staff at Oxford High School.

203. Ejak and Hopkins had ample time to deliberate and make an unhurried judgment about whether to release E.C. from the safety and security of the counseling office to the general school population.

204. Ejak and Hopkins consciously disregarded a substantial risk of serious harm by releasing E.C. from the safety and security of the counseling office to the general school population.

205. But for the affirmative acts of Ejak and Hopkins to change the status quo by permitting E.C. to leave the counseling office with the backpack containing his handgun and ammunition, E.C. would not have shot, injured or killed anyone at Oxford High School, including Plaintiff, on November 30, 2021.

206. But for Ejak's and Hopkin's actions of releasing E.C. into the general school population with the backpack containing his handgun and ammunition, the status quo-safety – would have remained.

207. Ejak's and Hopkin's actions affirmatively created new dangers that did not exist as long as E.C. remained in the counseling office, separated from his backpack, and affirmatively increased dangers that did not exist as long as the status quo was preserved.

208. It is shocking to the conscience that Ejak and Hopkins would release E.C. from the security of the counseling office and return him to the classroom, where they knew that E.C. was suicidal, they knew that E.C. had an obsession with guns and gun violence, they knew that E.C. had been researching bullets at school and informed Hopkins that he enjoyed shooting guns, they knew that E.C. had been watching a video of a shooting in his first period class, they knew that in his second period class E.C. had drawn disturbing and violent words and images onto a math worksheet, including: "The thoughts won't stop. Help me... blood everywhere... My life is useless... The world is dead;" they knew that E.C.'s parents were informed of his suicidal ideation and abandoned him at school, they knew that E.C. was a threat to himself and others, even after he denied that he was a threat when Hopkins posed that direct question to E.C., and they knew that they had an obligation to keep E.C. away from the classroom environment even if the circumstances did not present a "disciplinary issue."

209. In comparison with the public-at-large, as students and staff at Oxford High School, including Plaintiff and other victims of the shooting were specifically at risk and exposed to the dangers presented by the act of releasing E.C. from the safety of the counseling office to the school environment, where he committed the shooting.

210. As the direct and proximate result of Ejak's and Hopkins's deliberate indifference, Plaintiff suffered terror, shock, excruciating pain, fear, trauma, severe emotional distress, scarring and disfigurement, wage loss, loss of earning capacity, and will incur future damages, including requiring ongoing mental health counseling.

COUNT III
State-Created Danger – Deliberate Indifference – 42 U.S.C. § 1983
(Defendants Throne and Wolf)

211. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all previous and subsequent paragraphs.

212. Plaintiff is a citizen of the United States entitled to all rights, privileges, and immunities accorded to all citizens of the State of Michigan and the United States, including the clearly established right to be free from danger created and/or increased by Superintendent Throne and Principal Wolf under the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, as enforced pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

213. Any reasonable person would be aware of this clearly established constitutional right.

214. Defendants Throne and Wolf, with knowledge of this clearly established right, and acting with deliberate indifference, violated Plaintiff's right to be free from violence without due process, as secured by the Fourteenth Amendment's Due Process Clause, by taking affirmative acts under color of law to create a danger of severe injury by taking affirmative acts which caused severe injuries to Plaintiff, which would not have happened but-for-those affirmative state actions.

215. At all relevant times, Defendants Throne and Wolf were acting under the color of state law as employees of OCSD, a public school district, including and not limited to maintaining school safety, investigating violent behavior in the District, investigating threats of violence directed at the OCSD; taking action and making decisions regarding school practices and procedures, both formal and informal; and by their conduct as school administrators.

216. Defendants Throne and Wolf knew that there were active threats of violence that compromised the safety of both students and staff at the Oxford High School in the weeks and months leading up to the November 30, 2021 shooting, and that those threats had not been formally or fully investigated.

217. Defendants Throne and Wolf had the authority and obligation as school administrators to maintain school safety and to fully and completely investigate all violence in their District and all threats to the safety of the District's students and staff, including investigating who had left the severed animal heads in Oxford High School.

218. Defendants Throne and Wolf each took affirmative actions that individually, or in concert with one another, created and substantially increased the danger that E.C.'s conduct would escalate to actual violence, thus causing severe and grievous injuries to Plaintiff.

219. The affirmative actions and conduct of Defendants Throne and Wolf in the weeks leading up to the November 30, 2021 shooting, which created and/or increased the risk of harm to Plaintiff in reckless disregard for her safety, non-exhaustively include:

- a. Deliberately and intentionally concealing facts from appropriate law enforcement as to the severed bird head EC placed in the boys' bathroom just weeks before the shooting;
- b. Deliberately and intentionally concealing facts from the Oxford High School students, staff and parents of ongoing violence at the school, and instead falsely assuring them that there were no threats to school safety that they should be concerned with in the days and weeks leading up to the November 30, 2021 shooting;
- c. Deliberately discouraging Oxford High School students and staff from taking seriously the threats they had perceived to their safety; and instructing students to stop talking about or sharing the threatening information they find on social media;
- d. Promoting a policy, practice, or custom of misrepresentation, minimizing or avoidance and non-escalation of suspected or known risks of school violence; and
- e. Any and all additional breaches that created or increased the danger of violence at the school which may become known through the course of this litigation.

220. The foregoing non-exhaustively described actions and conduct of the individual government Defendants was a proximate cause of Plaintiff's injuries.

221. At all relevant times, Throne and Wolf's respective actions, by advising students and staff, including Plaintiff, that there was no credible threat, demonstrated conduct so reckless as to demonstrate a substantial lack of concern for whether an injury resulted.

222. At all relevant times, Plaintiff was safer before Throne and Wolf respectively took action and advised students and staff, including Plaintiff, that there was no credible threat. By virtue of Throne and Wolf's actions, they each substantially increased the harm to Plaintiff.

223. Had Defendants Throne and Wolf conducted a reasonable investigation into the threats of violence made towards Oxford High School and its students and staff, including the decapitated bird head left in the boys' bathroom, they would have found that E.C. was the perpetrator of those threats and the person that severed the bird's head, as such information was readily accessible on his public social media pages. Thereafter, E.C. would have been removed from school, and the mass shooting on November 30, 2021, would never have occurred and Plaintiff would not have sustained the severe and grievous injuries she did that day.

224. Throne's and Wolf's affirmative acts created a state-created danger that substantially increased the special danger of harm to Plaintiff and other staff and students at Oxford High School, as distinguished from a risk that affects the public at large.

225. The conduct of Defendants Throne and Wolf was objectively unreasonable and performed knowingly, deliberately, and with deliberate indifference to the safety of Plaintiff, causing all Oxford High School students and staff to be less safe than they were before their affirmative actions.

226. But for the affirmative acts of Defendants Throne and Wolf, E.C. would not have shot, injured, or killed anyone at Oxford High School, including Plaintiff, on November 30, 2021.

227. It is shocking to the conscience that Throne and Wolf would not only decide not to report the bird head incident to law enforcement or investigate the active threats being made towards Oxford High School, but rather affirmatively provide a knowing false sense of security to the parents, students and staff of Oxford High School, and even more shockingly tell the students that they were not to talk about the threats on social media.

228. The students and staff of Oxford High School, including Plaintiff, were specifically at risk of the dangers presented by Throne's and Wolf's affirmative acts.

229. In comparison with the public-at-large, as students and staff at Oxford High School, Plaintiff and other victims of the shooting were specifically at risk and exposed to the dangers presented by the act of allowing E.C. to matriculate through the school environment.

230. As the direct and proximate result of Defendants Throne's and Wolf's deliberate indifference, Plaintiff suffered terror, shock, excruciating pain, fear, trauma, severe emotional distress, scarring and disfigurement, wage loss, loss of earning capacity, and will incur future damages, including requiring ongoing mental health counseling.

COUNT IV
Violation of Article 1, §17 of the Michigan Constitution-Substantive Due Process – Bodily Integrity
(Ejak and Hopkins)

231. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all previous and subsequent paragraphs.

232. The Due Process Clause of the Michigan Constitution provides, in pertinent part, that “[n]o person shall...be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law . . .” Const 1963, art 1, § 17.

233. The due process guarantee of the Michigan Constitution is coextensive with its federal counterpart. The doctrine of substantive due process protects enumerated fundamental rights and liberties under the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and under Const 1963, art 1, § 17.

234. The substantive component of due process encompasses, among other things, an individual’s right to bodily integrity free from unjustifiable government interference.

235. In a long line of cases, courts have held that, in addition to the specific freedoms protected by the Bill of Rights, the “liberty” specially protected by the Due Process Clause includes the right to bodily integrity.

236. Plaintiff enjoys the constitutionally protected Due Process right to be free from the invasion of bodily integrity through assault and battery under the Due Process Clause.

237. The violation of the right to bodily integrity involves an egregious, nonconsensual entry into the body which was an exercise of power without any legitimate governmental objective.

238. The United States Supreme Court and the Michigan appellate courts have recognized that no right is held more sacred, or is more carefully guarded, than the right of every individual to the possession and control of his or her own person, free from all interference of others, unless by clear and unquestionable authority of law.

239. Any reasonable person would be aware of this clearly established right to bodily integrity.

240. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins, with knowledge of this clearly established right, and acting in deliberate indifference, violated Plaintiff's right to bodily integrity and to be free from violence without due process, as secured by the Fourteenth Amendment's Due Process Clause, by taking affirmative acts under color of law to disrupt the status quo and create a danger of severe injury that did not exist in the status quo prior to those affirmative state actions, and by taking affirmative acts which caused severe injuries to Plaintiff, which would not have happened but-for-those affirmative state actions.

241. At all relevant times, Defendants Ejak and Hopkins were acting under the color of state law as employees of OCSD, a public school district, including and not limited to securing, supervising, advising, and directing the activities of E.C.; taking actions and making decisions regarding school practices and procedures, both formal and informal; and in their conduct as school administrators and counselors.

242. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins knew that E.C. was suicidal, that he was in extreme emotional distress; that he presented a substantial risk of danger to himself and others at the school; that he was urgently requesting help from school staff; that there was sufficient cause to believe his parents abused and/or neglected him; and that he expressed specific violent intentions involving the use of a firearm.

243. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins had the authority and obligation as school administrators to maintain the status quo, in which E.C. was safe, secure and restricted in the counseling office on November 30, 2021, and where he was supervised by adults and did not have unfettered access to weapons that he could use to harm himself or others.

244. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins had the authority to maintain E.C. in a safe and secure location under the watchful eye of a responsible adult until such time as he was no longer a threat to himself or students and staff.

245. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins affirmatively misused their authority by releasing E.C. from the counseling office and returning him to class the morning of November 30, 2021, despite knowing that E.C. was suicidal, and that he posed a substantial threat to himself and others in the high school.

246. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins each took affirmative actions that individually, or in concert with one another, created the danger that E.C.'s conduct would escalate to actual violence, thus causing severe and grievous injuries to Plaintiff.

247. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins took affirmative acts on November 30, 2021 that created the risk of danger to Plaintiff and other staff and students at Oxford High School, including but not limited to:

- a. Releasing E.C. from the safe and secure confines of the counseling office to the general school population, despite knowing that E.C. was suicidal and despite knowing, or having probable cause to know, that he was a threat to the bodily integrity of himself and others;
- b. Returning the unsearched backpack containing his gun and ammunition to E.C., despite knowing that E.C. was suicidal and despite knowing, or having probable cause to know that he was a threat to the bodily integrity of himself and others;
- c. Returning E.C. to the general school population with his unsearched backpack after worsening E.C.'s mental health crisis (by threatening to call CPS in E.C.'s presence and thereby threatening to remove E.C. from his home) and affirmatively increasing and accelerating the danger of harm and bodily integrity to E.C. and others; and

- d. Any and all additional affirmative acts of deliberate indifference that would shock the conscience and create and/or increase the risk of danger of violence at the school that may become known throughout the course of this litigation.

248. Defendants Ejak and Hopkin's deliberate indifference to E.C.'s suicidal and homicidal ideations and their decision, after ample deliberation, to return E.C. to the general school population without even searching his backpack, shocks the conscience and directly and proximately resulted in the assault on Plaintiff, and the severe and grievous injuries sustained by the other students and staff at Oxford High School on November 30, 2021.

249. The relationship between Ejak and Hopkins, as school administrators, and the students and staff of Oxford High School, including Plaintiff, was such that Ejak and Hopkins knew that Plaintiff was a foreseeable victim of E.C.'s acts of violence following his release from the security of the counseling office by Ejak and Hopkins.

250. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins are not entitled to qualified immunity because they clearly released E.C. from a safe environment into one in which harm and violation of Plaintiff's constitutional right of bodily integrity was foreseeable and likely to occur as a result of Ejak's and Hopkin's deliberate indifference.

251. The affirmative actions of Defendants Ejak and Hopkins shock the conscience and were performed knowingly and with deliberate indifference to the safety of Plaintiff and others at Oxford High School.

252. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins knew that their conduct violated the clearly established rights of the students and staff at Oxford High School, including Plaintiff.

253. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins had ample time to deliberate and make an unhurried judgment about whether to release E.C. from the safety and security of the counseling office to the general school population.

254. Defendants Ejak and Hopkins had ample time to deliberate and make an unhurried judgment about whether to search E.C.'s backpack before returning him to the general school population, and despite their awareness of E.C.'s acute mental health crisis and suicidal and/or homicidal ideations chose to send him back into the general school population.

255. To make matters worse, Ejak and Hopkins intentionally concealed E.C.'s mental health crisis, suicidal and homicidal ideations from his teachers and other administrators in the school after releasing him from the counseling office that morning, as such they had no idea that they were at risk of serious and grievous injuries and could take no action to protect themselves or others in the building.

256. But for the affirmative acts of Ejak and Hopkins to change the status quo by permitting E.C. to leave the counseling office with the unsearched backpack containing his handgun and ammunition, E.C. would not have shot, injured or killed anyone at Oxford High School, including Plaintiff, on November 30, 2021.

257. But for Ejak's and Hopkin's actions of releasing E.C. into the general school population with the backpack containing his handgun and ammunition, the status quo-safety – would have remained. Because of their deliberate indifference, their actions created the crisis and mayhem that would ensue just a short time later.

258. It is shocking to the conscience that Ejak and Hopkins would release E.C. from the security of the counseling office and return him to the classroom, where they knew that E.C. had suicidal and homicidal ideations, they knew that E.C. had an obsession with guns and gun violence, they knew that E.C. had been researching bullets at school and informed Hopkins that he enjoyed shooting guns, they knew that E.C. had been watching a video of a shooting in his first period class, they knew that in his second period class E.C. had drawn disturbing and violent words and images onto a math worksheet, including: “The thoughts won’t stop. Help me... blood everywhere... My life is useless... The world is dead;” they knew that E.C.’s parents were informed of his suicidal ideation and abandoned him at school, they knew that E.C. was a threat to himself and others, even after he denied that he was a threat when Hopkins posed that direct question to E.C., and they knew that they had an obligation to keep E.C. away from the classroom environment even if the circumstances did not present a “disciplinary issue.”

259. Defendant Ejak’s and Hopkin’s deliberate indifference resulted in a nonconsensual entry of a bullet into Plaintiff’s body in violation of the Michigan Constitution 1963, art 1, § 17.

260. As the direct and proximate result of Ejak’s and Hopkins’s deliberate indifference, Plaintiff’s constitutional right to bodily integrity was violated and she suffered terror, shock, excruciating pain, fear, trauma, severe emotional distress, scarring and disfigurement, wage loss, loss of earning capacity, and will incur future damages, including requiring ongoing mental health counseling.

DAMAGES

261. As a direct and proximate result of the actions of the Defendants, Plaintiff has suffered terror, shock, awareness of imminent death, excruciating pain and fear.

262. As a further direct and proximate cause of the actions of the Defendants, Plaintiff has suffered severe emotional distress, sleep disturbance, nightmares, and can be expected to continue to suffer such damages into the future.

263. As a further direct and proximate cause of the actions of the Defendants, Plaintiff has suffered and will suffer losses into the future due to the injuries and damages she suffered, including, but not limited to the reasonable expenses of necessary medical care and treatment, wage loss, loss of earnings capacity, and all other damages that may be learned through the course of discovery.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff claims judgment against the Defendants in the amount to which they are found to be entitled, together with interest, costs, attorneys' fees, exemplary damages, punitive damages and relevant injunctive relief.

Respectfully submitted,
